in the Community, One WordCamp at a Time

e to be part of one. To connect and build relationships with other like-minded individuals who share the same Here at Pantheon, community is everything!

o connect, build and share with other WordPress enthusiasts around the world. While we are honored to s every year, we understand that travel can oftentimes be a costly investment.

ld be given the opportunity to attend these community-organized events at least once, we partnered with articpants to this year's WordCamp for Publishers! The OpenNews team ranked and hand selected egories:

- nic groups

- Underrepresented organizations (small newsrooms and organizations without development budgets)

- Unique skills, attributes and background

- Ability to attend WordCamp for Publishers & deliver a session they would otherwise not be able to do without the scholarship

Amongst those able to attend were Emma Carew-Grovum, Emily Roseman, Jordan Gass-Poore' and Beth Davidz, who all delivered exceptional sessions and workshops (check out their slides below!). We could not be more honored to support WordCamp for Publishers, and those recipients who are able to attend through our sponsorship.

- Digital Security for Newsrooms, Emma Care-Grovum & Kevin O' Gorman
- Newsletter Guide for Publishers, Emily Roseman & Joseph Lichterman
- A Beginners Guide to Podcasting on WordPress, Jordan Gas-Poore'
- Managing Site Networks, Beth Davidz

McKenna Regets

Community Coordinator

PRODUCT

Why Pantheon

Drupal Hosting

WordPress Hosting

Features

Pricing

COMPANY

About

Blog

Resources

Careers

Customer Reviews

HELP

Status

Support

Documentation

Professional Services

Learn Pantheon

Migrations

PANTHEON

The WebOps Platform Built for Agility

CONTACT US

Chat with a web expert → online now

Call 855-927-9387 →

Send a message →

Top 100
Software Products
—BEST SOFTWARE AWARDS—
2019